As has occurred in the past, Palm Worth is experiencing an increased invasion of iguanas to the point that, with the amount of feces (poop) on the walkways and pool deck, has become a health issue. Attached is an informative article on this issue which should be given serious attention. From iguanas sunning themselves on our railings with shareholders coming in contact by just using the stairwell as well as the baby iguanas nesting along the garden/fountain area the time has come for an intervention by an Iguanas Trapping Company. In addition, Palm Worth's garden of blooming flowers around the pool has been stripped as food for the iguanas. Our Property Manager has been instructed to contract with a professional iguana control company.
